Facilities
ARE PROVIDED FOR YOUR CONVENIENCE

INFORMATION

Information concerning travel on the French Railways can be obtained in Great Britain from the principal Travel Agents, or French Railways Ltd. 179 Piccadilly, London, W. I., in France from any French Railway station and in Paris from the French Railway Enquiry Offices at 127 avenue des Champs-Élysées and 16 boulevard des Capucines or by calling up LAB 92.00.

TICKETS

Tickets, single or return, 1st, 2nd or 3rd class, between any two stations in France and between the principal stations in France and most other European countries or through tickets from London or the English Channel ports to the principal Continental destinations issued by the British Railways (Southern Region), can be obtained from the principal Travel Agents or French Railways Ltd. 179 Piccadilly, London W. I.

RESERVATION OF SEATS & SLEEPING BERTHS

Seats, cabins or sleeping berths may be reserved in advance on most cross-channel services and on long distance trains from Paris through most of the offices and agencies mentioned above. Passengers are recommended in their own interests to take advantage of this facility. Similar reservations can be made for the return journey from the principal stations in France.

REGISTRATION OF LUGGAGE

Heavy luggage can be registered between any two railway stations in France, and from London or the English Channel ports to most Continental destinations to which through tickets are issued, with a free allowance of 66 lbs. for adults and 44 lbs. for children between the 4 and 10 years of age. Any excess weight must be paid for.

TO SUIT ALL TASTES

by valley, mountain or sea

Auvergne, which owes its characteristic scenery to violent volcanic upheavals of the remote past, has everything the visitor can desire: majestic mountains, verdant valleys, picturesque towns, feudal keeps, noble churches and abbeys, natural curiosities and mineral springs of great medicinal value which have brought fame to many spas such as Vichy, La Bourboule, Le Mont-Dore, Royat, St-Nectaire, etc.

Périgord, heathland and forest give place to the vine; the climate changes and the traveller approaches the clear sky of Pau.

Between the resorts of the Côte Basque, on the Atlantic and of the Côte Vermeille on the Mediterranean the summits of the Pyrénées glow in the warm Midi sun. Famous resorts and spas such as Luchon, Caunterets, Argelès, etc., nestle in the valleys and foothills, where Lourdes and its miraculous grotto attract pilgrims from far and near.
